Cultural Explorations

OCTOBER 20 - 26, 2024

Crow Canyon's beautiful 170-acre campus is your base on an exploration to places that are sacred, special, and seldom seen while discussing aspects of cultural influence through stories and lessons that are still alive within descendant communities today.

With the Northern Lunar standstill phase of the moon's migration as our backdrop, hear from a variety of perspectives about how Ancestral Puebloans honored and memorialized natural phenomena. In a study of public architecture, celestial observation, and other interesting Chaco region cultural aspects, we will visit significant places and explore the ideas of cultural memory.

FEATURING:

Theresa Pasqual, Director of Acoma Pueblo's Historic Preservation Office, Cultural Advocate, Cultural resource advisor and Crow Canyon Trustee.

Octavius Seowtewa, Member of Zuni's Cultural Resource Advisory Team, Cultural Advocate, Member of Crow Canyon's Pueblo Advisory Group and master jeweler.

Susan Ryan, Executive Vice President, Crow Canyon Research Institute, and expert on ancient Chaco, Mesa Verde, and communities related to these regional centers.
