

ANCIENT CULTURES OF THE GREEN RIVER

CROW CANYON
ARCHAEOLOGICAL CENTER

Visit with respect as we travel deep into desert environments that depict the history of ancient cultures surrounding the Green River and Nine Mile Canyon in eastern Utah. The multicultural voices of our Indigenous advisors and scholars will provide you with fresh perspectives about this magnificent cultural landscape.

We gather in Green River, Utah to explore sites in the Book Cliffs and San Rafael Swell. We'll also visit and learn about the complex multicultural history of important corridors where various groups of the Fremont culture concentrated their intricate and beautiful rock imagery.

FEATURING:

Rebecca Hammond is a member of the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe. She is a founding member of Crow Canyon's Native American Advisory Group and has served as an educator since 1997.

Elizabeth Hora is a Public Archaeologist for the Utah State Historic Preservation Office. Her work focuses on bringing science-based interpretations of archaeological data to the public.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Enjoy dynamic discussions as we traverse backcountry corridors and visit lesser known sites.

Spend two nights at Nine Mile Ranch – a multi-generational ranch that hosts guests in comfortable historic cabins.
